

London Borough of Sutton

WAMITAB started working in partnership with London Borough of Sutton in July 2007 and has provided Skills for Life and NVQ training for over 70 waste and cleansing operatives. All the Skills for Life training sessions have taken place on site with candidates being given time off from front line duties to take part. This programme of up-skilling was part of Sutton's Skills Pledge strategy.

Since 2007, Sutton has had a number of small informal award ceremonies to celebrate the achievements of their waste and cleansing workers, with WAMITAB tutors and staff in attendance.

Sue Wright, Business Development Manager at WAMITAB, said, "The Skills Development programme at Sutton has been very successful, and we have had a very productive partnership now in its third year, with the Training & Development team and our accredited centre, LONTAC, which has ensured that the learners have benefited from targeted training."
